Description
lewdle, as the name suggests, is a spin on Wordle that uses Not Safe for Work words. To be honest, it's more difficult because the word list is so limited and you have to guess the answer in six attempts. It will require some thought, especially for the more 'unusual' words. The catch is that your guesses must be inappropriate words, and only then can you proceed to the word of the day. Sometimes the answers are PG-13, such as FARTS. However, this is not always the case. You pick a random word and type it in the first row. You plan your second word based on the clues (green, yellow, and grey). The color green indicates that the letter is in the correct position. Yellow indicates that the letter is present in the word but is not in the correct position. Grey indicates that the letter does not appear anywhere in the word. The challenge is that the words you should guess are all derogatory. You have six attempts to find the solution.
