Description
If you are a fan of Wordle, the viral word game that has taken the internet by storm, you might want to check out heardle , a musical spin-off that challenges your song recognition skills. Heardle is a daily music trivia game where you listen to the opening notes of a song and try to guess its title and artist in as few attempts as possible. It's a fun and addictive way to test your musical knowledge and discover new songs. How to Play Heardle Heardle is a web-based game that you can play on any browser. There is no app version available. You can access the game. The game updates at midnight your local time with a new song, and everyone plays the same song each day. This makes it easy to compare your results with your friends and other players. The game is simple but challenging. You start by pressing the play button to listen to the first second of the song. Then, you type in your guess in the search box and select the correct option from the list. If you are right, you win the game. If you are wrong, you get another chance to listen to more of the song and make another guess. You have six chances in total, and each time you get to hear an additional three seconds of the song. The maximum length of the song clip is 16 seconds. If you don't want to make a guess, you can skip it by clicking on the skip button. However, this will not give you any advantage, as you will still lose one chance and hear more of the song. You might as well make a random guess and hope for the best. At the end of the game, whether you win or lose, you can share your results with others by clicking on the share button. This will copy an emoji code to your clipboard that represents how many guesses you used and how many you skipped. Why You Should Play Heardle Heardle is more than just a trivia game. It's also a tool for musical discovery and appreciation. Playing Heardle might help you rediscover old songs that you forgot about, find new songs that you like, or finally identify that catchy tune that has been stuck in your head for ages. You can also listen to the full song on Spotify at the end of the game, if you have an account. Heardle is also a great way to challenge yourself and improve your musical memory and recognition skills. The game features songs from different genres, eras, and regions, so you never know what to expect. Some songs might be easy and familiar, while others might be obscure and tricky. The game also rewards speed and accuracy, as you get more points for guessing correctly on the first try.
