Description
- for matching errors, authors, etc. str1.contains(str2) should be used instead of exact match.

History

Uses contains only for action type

#2 - 21.04.2018 00:49 - Miroslav Blaško

code is quite redundant. would it be possible to write only one select query for that () and reuse it ? :

public List<ActionHistory> findByTypeAndAuthor(String type, User author, int pageNumber) ----> findByType
OrAuthor

- please test it using junit tests as well.

You mean use one query for searching type or author or type and author?
I tried it and spent a lot of time on it, but without success.

#4 - 22.04.2018 09:42 - Miroslav Blaško

- use workbench to debug query

- where was the problem:

```
SELECT ?r WHERE {
```

?r a ?type ;

```
?isCreated ?timestamp .
```

- ?r ?isType ?actionType .
?r ?hasOwner ?author .*

- last two lines you add depending on the input params. E.g. if ?author is null you remove "?r ?isType ?actionType" ...
